Product Authentication Failed

We're sorry to inform you that the product you scanned is not authentic. It appears to be a counterfeit.

The serial number you scanned does not match any registered product. This means the product could be counterfeit.

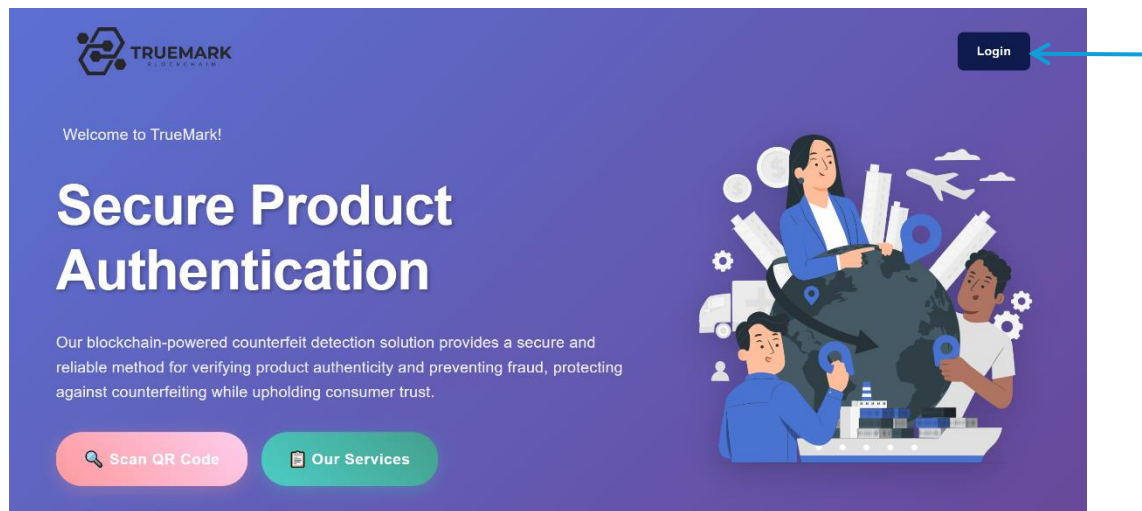

We take counterfeiting very seriously, and we are working to prevent it from happening. We advise you not to use this product, as it may not meet the safety and quality standards of the genuine product. If you have any concerns or questions, please contact the manufacturer of the genuine product for further assistance.

Thank you for using our anti-counterfeit system. We hope it has helped you make informed purchasing decisions and protected you from counterfeit products.
